Important Information for recipient of notice

You may object to the Secured Party's proposal to dispose of the collateral by purchase under section 137 of the PPSA by giving the Secured Party a notice of objection before the end of the day stated in part 3. The notice of objection must be sent to the Secured Party's address stated in part 1. The giving of notice identifier, if provided, is to be included in any notice to the Secured Party.

A person, other than the grantor, who gives a Secured Party a notice of objection, may, in accordance with section 138 of the PPSA, be requested by the Secured Party to provide proof of that person's interest. The person who made the objection must provide proof of the interest within 10 business days after the request is made.

If the Secured Party named in part 1 receives a notice of objection by the end of the day in part 3, it must dispose the collateral in accordance with section 128 of the PPSA.

The period stated in part 3 may be extended by order of a court under section 293 of the PPSA.

Before the Secured Party retains or disposes of the collateral, a person may be able to reinstate the security agreement pursuant to section 143 of the PPSA.

Unless agreed otherwise, before the Secured Party disposes of the collateral, a person with a security interest in the collateral or the grantor, may be able to redeem the collateral pursuant to section 142 of the PPSA.

Note: The grantor's right to redeem the collateral has priority over any other person's right to redeem the collateral.
